

Romance, Gender, and Agency

- Janice Radway: reading romance as a feminist act of agency
- Maria writes romance while balancing motherhood, caregiving, and work
- Writing helps her reclaim time and identity
- Romance writing as a form of self-expression rather than escapism
- Maria eventually becomes an independent published author

